

GPID Papers

Call for Papers

The Gendered Perspectives on International Development (GPID) Papers series is a peer-reviewed journal publication of scholarly work on global social, political, and economic change and its gendered effects in developing nations. GPID cross-cuts disciplines, bringing together research, critical analyses, and proposals for change. GPID recognizes diverse processes of international development and globalization, and new directions in scholarship on gender relations.

GPID Papers are article-length manuscripts (9000-word maximum) by scholars from a broad range of disciplines, disseminating materials at a late stage of formulation that contribute new understandings of gendered roles and relations amidst economic, social, and political change. We particularly encourage manuscripts that bridge the gap between research, policy, and practice.

Interested in Submitting?

Email papers@msu.edu a 150-word abstract of your paper that summarizes:

1. Essential points
2. Methods
3. Findings

Goals of GPID

- 1 Promote research that contributes to gendered analysis of social change
- 2 Highlight the effects of international development policy and globalization on gender roles and gender relations
- 3 Encourage new approaches to international development policy and programming

Previously published GPID Papers are freely available and can be viewed online at gencen.msu.edu/papers. Please note that authors retain the copyright to their papers and are encouraged to publish their papers in other journals.

Center for Gender in
Global Context (GenCen)
MICHIGAN STATE UNIVERSITY