

International Development
& Intersecting Issues with

Janet Heisey

Janet Heisey works as a consultant for the Partnership on Economic Inclusion, a multi-donor trust fund at the World Bank. She leads the Global Knowledge Sharing initiative for economic inclusion programs and works with government agencies and World Bank operations to design economic inclusion programs that address the multidimensional needs of people living in extreme poverty. Previously, Janet worked for Trickle Up, an NGO that enables people in extreme poverty to advance their economic and social well-being, where she launched a technical assistance unit to serve displaced populations in partnership with the UN's refugee agency.

Monday, November 25 | 1:30 - 3:00PM
International Center Room 303