Seeking Reviewers

The Gendered Perspectives on International Development (GPID) Papers series is a peer-reviewed journal publication of scholarly work on global social, political, and economic change and its gendered effects in developing nations. GPID cross-cuts disciplines, bringing together research, critical analyses, and proposals for change. GPID recognizes diverse processes of international development and globalization, and new directions in scholarship on gender relations.

GPID Papers are article-length manuscripts (9000-word maximum) by scholars from a broad range of disciplines, disseminating materials at a late stage of formulation that contribute new understandings of gendered roles and relations amidst economic, social, and political change. We particularly encourage manuscripts that bridge the gap between research, policy, and practice. Individual papers in the series address a range of topics, such as:

1. Gender, violence, and human rights
2. Reproductive health and healthcare
3. Masculinities and development
4. Gender and agriculture
5. Gender and social movements
6. Gendered division of labor
